Aug. 30, 2024

Every month, Berlin Art Link shines a spotlight on international exhibitions and events with our Worldwide Hit List. We want to highlight artists, galleries, museums and new projects touching on a variety of topics, employing multiple media and featuring diverse subjects. Below are some of the stand-outs that we've selected for the month of September.

With Michelle Cotton as the newly appointed Artistic Director, Kunsthalle Wien launches a new program this September, headlined by a comprehensive exhibition of Aleksandra Domanović's work. The Berlin-based artist focuses on the intersections of technology, history and culture, exploring how they shape our understanding of identity and contemporary society. Her first solo show in Austria is also the largest presentation of her work to date, featuring over 40 works (including new commissions) produced over the last 18 years. The exhibition showcases her diverse practice in sculpture, video, print, photography and digital media, characterized by a playful and critical approach to information culture in the post-internet era.
